LEFT FIELDER JIMMY SHEPPARD.

One of the best left fielders in the business is Jimmy Sheppard, now playing with the Chicago Nationals. Sheppard was acquired two years ago by Chicago after making a great record with the Brooklyn team. It is very seldom that a ball gets to the ground in his part of the pasture. He is particularly apt in catching flies and putting the ball promptly to the spot where it will do the most good, rarely making an error.

Woman Worked in Coal Mines

Masquerading as a man and working side by side with her husband in various Washington county coal mines, "Joe" Povle was today discovered to be Mrs. Susie Povle when she was taken to a hospital suffering from injuries sustained in a mine accident at Cecil, this county.

According to her husband, Steve Povle, she has been working with him for three years. Her coarse voice and closely cropped hair deceived all as to her sex, while her strength equaled that of any of her sturdy male Slav companions.

Mrs. Povle's injuries were not very serious, and her husband was arrested this afternoon and lodged in the county jail charged with violating the law in employing female labor in a mine. Susie acted as Povle's helper and was paid by him—Washington, Pa., dispatch to Philadelphia North American.

Time to Move

"Halloo, George! What's everybody crowding out of the drawing room for? Have refreshments been announced?" George—No; but Aunt Matilda is getting ready to sing.

A Horrid Suspicion

"Maud," he said, as the carriage entered the shadowy lane, "Maud are you sure you never had any man's arm about your waist as mine is?"

"No, George, I never did," she murmured; "I never, never did! Why?"

"Oh, nothing," he replied, "only I wondered whether it was instinct or experience that made you take the reins from my hand just as soon as we reached this secluded spot."—Royal Magazine.

A Disappointment

"You have been taking a great deal of interest in zoology of late."

"Yes," answered the casual student. "I desired to go afar from the haunts of inconsiderate an unscrupulous men. But I found dumb creatures doing things quite contrary to the rules I had laid down for them in my books. Even the wilderness has its undesirable citizens."—Washington Star.

No Reserved Seat

"So you think a rich man can't go to heaven, eh?"

"Oh, yes, sub—he kin go dar all right, but his case'll be purty much de same as dat er do boy peakin' under der circus tent whilst de circus is agwine on."—Atlanta Constitution.

The Judge's Explanation

A certain judge, while passing through the scene of an election riot, had a large stone thrown at his head, but as he happened to be in a stooping position at the time it passed over him.

"You see," said he, addressing his friends afterwards, "that had I been an upright judge I might have been killed."

Her Love

"Dear Father," wrote the millionaire's son after he had eloped with a chorus girl, "I hope you will forgive us. I know you would relent if you could see how brave the dear little girl is. When I informed her that you had refused to receive us, and that it would be necessary for us to live on less than $30 a day in some first-class hotel, she put her arms around my neck and assured me that she was just too happy to care. Can you doubt, after this, that she married me for love alone?"

With such overwhelming proof of her worthiness the stern old man could do nothing but send them his blessing.

Early to bed and early to rise gives the average man's wife a surprise.
